

Greetings from campus! Spring has been absolutely gorgeous in Clemson this year – we have so many blooms of dogwoods, azaleas, wisteria, daffodils, tulips and forsythia to enjoy. We hope it has been delightful in your part of the world as well. Tiger fans joined us for the annual Orange & White football game last Saturday, which was an enjoyable afternoon for football and fellowship with family and friends. As the semester begins to wind down, students are finishing up projects and getting ready for either graduation or preparing for summer internships. We all know that April is tax season; however, it is also Research and Innovation Month. We celebrated the ground-breaking for the new and exciting Watt Family Innovation Center, which will be placed directly across from the Class of 1956 Academic Success Center. The new facility will connect current students with industry partners, state-of-the-art technology and innovative ways to use technology as we engage and compete on a global stage. We invite you back to campus as often as you can, and we encourage you to join us for a Prowl & Growl alumni event taking place in your community. Please let us know if you have any questions or if we can assist you in any way. Many thanks for all you have done for this great university!
